

Jones Robb in the Holiday Spirit

As the holiday season swung into high gear, Jones Robb attorneys and staff made time to enjoy each other's company during a holiday luncheon and Yankee Gift Swap. The Jones Robb team was unanimous in its choice of "best gift" - the cleverly packaged and well-disguised toilet brush (patented, no less) captured managing partner Susie Jones' interest with its promise of a "Happy New Year." Susie joined in our laughter when it was revealed the true purpose of the gift was to "help clean up your act in 2019."

The holiday season was not all luncheons and games for the Jones Robb team. For the sixth consecutive year, Jones Robb, PLLC participated in the Salvation Army's Angel Tree program. "It has become our tradition to 'adopt' children for the Christmas season and, each year, we look forward to receiving information on our angels," said Susie Jones, managing partner at Jones Robb, PLLC. "It is great to see the individuals at the firm who volunteer to adopt one or more children having fun purchasing gifts for them, knowing they are making Christmas morning very special for these children. The bustle of bringing in and preparing the gifts for delivery to the children is a perfect start to the holiday season." Every Christmas there are families who are struggling financially and cannot afford to buy gifts for their children. The Salvation Army's Angel Tree Program assists these families by collecting new clothing, toys, and other special gifts that the Angel Tree children request, ensuring that these children have a wonderful holiday season with their families. Jones Robb, PLLC employees and partners adopted several children this year.

Jones Robb employees were also generous with their time this holiday season. Firm Administrator Karen Lee took time out of her busy schedule to volunteer at the Salvation Army's Angel Tree gift drop-off center.

Patent Legal Assistant Loren Stein and her family participated in laying wreaths at Arlington National Cemetery.

Finally, Jones Robb, LLC supported a few other worthy causes during 2018 –

Animal Welfare League of Alexandria

Doorways for Women and Families (Arlington, VA)

Lawyers Have Heart (DC)

The National GEM Consortium

As 2018 comes to a close, Jones Robb attorneys and staff send you their best wishes for a happy, healthy, and prosperous 2019.

Happy New Year!
